The School of Public Health, College of Arts and Humanities, College of Behavioral and Social Sciences, and Division of Research are pleased to invite you to a public presentation by Dr. William Riley, Director of the National Institutes of Health Office of Behavioral and Social Sciences Research. He will be presenting funding priorities, grant processes, and grant-seeking guidance for the National Institutes of Health Office of Behavioral and Social Sciences Research. This is a particularly valuable opportunity for faculty interested in applying to any NIH programs to hear from a representative and to ask pertinent questions related to your work.

A public talk with Q&A will take place at 10am on Friday September 23, 2016, in 2242H, School of Public Health (SPHL Dean's Conference Room). In the afternoon, Dr. Riley will be available for a limited number of individual meetings with faculty who are interested in submitting a proposal to one of his programs in the coming year. These will be 20-minute individual meetings. If you are interested in attending the morning talk and/or scheduling an individual meeting, please register at <http://go.umd.edu/OBSSR2016>.
